Call for papers

The Department of Central and East European Studies (CEES) at the University of Glasgow and the Estonian Institute are pleased to announce an international student symposium on Estonian society, history and culture, which will be held to mark the 90th anniversary of the Republic of Estonia.

Undergraduate and postgraduate students in the field of Estonian studies are hereby invited to submit paper proposals dealing with any of the following aspects of Estonian politics, society and culture, past or present:

- aspects of identity and culture and their social, political and economic implications;
- economic and social transformation;
- political transformation and international relations;
- literary, cinematic and cultural development;
- the politics of language.

The attendance fee is £15, which includes tea and coffee, lunch and symposium materials. Attendance is free for anyone giving a paper, and for staff and students of CEES and its CRCEES partner institutions.

An abstract (no more than 300 words) should be sent by 30 November 2007 to Lea Kreinin at:
